POLLING DAY SPECIAL

Listening to YOU

Residents back Toni's Police Campaign

• Today is Polling Day in the local by-election to choose your new Councillor. Local woman Toni Powell will be a Councillor who really listens to local people and fights for what we want.

Toni Powell has been delighted with the local response to her more police in New Romney campaign.

Local residents are going to the polls today to choose our new District Councillor.

The result may be decided tonight by just a handful of votes.

Local woman Toni Powell has pledged that as your new Councillor she will fight for real action to resolve the Conservative Council's recycling fiasco.

Toni says "Too many people have had to wait days and days just for their rubbish to be collected. It's just not good enough.

"As your new Councillor I won't be put off by excuses. Having rubbish on our streets for days is a disgrace and I will fight to clear up this mess."

Polls are open until 9pm tonight.

Toni wants more police to crack down on crime and rising anti-social behaviour. Many local residents say they rarely see a police officer on patrol in our town.

Toni said, "Local people have had enough. It's time for action."

To back Toni's campaign, contact us on the form overleaf.

Toni Powell - the best choice for our new Councillor

local woman, local action

Anti-social behaviour

Lydd airport expansion

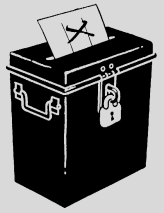

Mains drainage

Recycling fiasco

● Toni lives locally and understands how strongly local people feel about anti social behaviour, Lydd airport, the fight for mains drainage and an end to the fiasco over rubbish collection. She will be a strong voice for our town.
